

Environmental Policy

Corporate Principles

Based on the Komatsu Earth and Environment Policy, the Komatsu Awazu Plant shall fulfill its corporate social responsibility by improving its environmental and economic performance to help maintain a healthy global environment. This will be achieved through our regular operations such as the development, production, and distribution of construction machinery and special vehicles.

Guidelines for Corporate Activity

1. We will comply with laws and regulations relating to the environment and work on environmental conservation and preventing environmental pollution.
2. We will consider the effect our business activities may have on the environment and continually work on improvement activities. Specifically:
 - We aim to be carbon neutral, with net zero CO₂ emissions, by FY2050.
 - We will promote the effective utilization of renewable energy such as biomass.
 - We will reduce the amount of water and materials (sub-materials, etc.) used and the amount of waste generated.
3. We recognize that our business activities have an impact on biodiversity and will proactively contribute to global environmental conservation and the creation of a sound material-cycle society in close cooperation with local communities.
4. These policies will be made known to all employees who work at the Awazu Plant through education and awareness building activities.

Executive Officer
Awazu Plant Manager
Shinichi Araie